AMPLIFYING VOICES FOR CHANGE
EVENT RECAP

Presented by:

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Pac-12, its student-athletes, coaches, staff and member universities are committed to promoting social justice. The Conference continues to move this commitment forward by focusing on providing information and education to student-athletes on the importance of voting and highlighting such initiatives across all 12 campuses to inspire eligible students, faculty, staff and fans to make their voices heard by voting. Though sporting activities have been delayed due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Pac-12 continues to make the most of the situation by allocating time to address these important issues and working among all 12 universities to promote change by educating and preparing students and future leaders to be involved not only this year, but moving forward.

REGISTRANT FEEDBACK

"I was impressed by the conversation and the manner in which they had an intelligent conversation without the emotion that often gets in the way."

"The mental health session was fantastic. Dr. Sahar Yousef had incredible insights and tips."

"Loved the smart faculty input, but also the student-athlete voices were very important."
